After making any such determination, FTSE Russell shall advise the market of its decision at the earliest opportunity. Any such treatment will not be considered as an exception or change to the Ground Rules, or to set a precedent for future action, but FTSE Russell will consider whether the Rules should subsequently be updated to provide greater clarity.

Section 6

Shariah compliance screening methodology

6. Shariah compliance screening methodology

6.1.1 Classification of a bond as a Sukuk for purposes of index inclusion is based on the research methodology of IdealRatings. The IdealRatings methodology incorporates more than 150 shariah standards to assign a pass/fail score based on a pre-determined threshold and mandatory standards set by IdealRatings (www.idealratings.com). Shariah standards are categorised into two main categories:

- 1) General Shariah Standards – set of general standards that are applied on all Sukuk structures;
- 2) Structure Specific Standards – set of standards per shariah structure, such as Ijara standards, Mudarabah standards, and Murabaha standards

6.1.2 Each standard is weighted, with points assigned for passing a given standard and zero points assigned for failed standards. Under the IdealRatings methodology, certain standards are mandatory – failing such standards will automatically mean that the Sukuk is not shariah-compliant and it will not be included in the index.

6.2 Sector classification

6.2.1 Each bond in the index is assigned a Global Industry Code (GLIC) and Corporate Bond Sector (COBS) code, according to the FTSE Russell fixed income index classification scheme.

6.2.2 Sukuk that are issued on behalf of central governments or regional governments are assigned a sovereign guaranteed (SGTD) Global Industry Code (GLIC), and an Agency (AGEN) Corporate Bond Sector (COBS) code. Sukuk issued on behalf of quasi-sovereign or supranational entities, are assigned a Sovereign Government-Sponsored (SGSP) GLIC code. The COBS codes assigned to quasi-sovereign and supranational Sukuk issuers are Agency (AGEN) and Supranational (SPRA) respectively. Sukuk issued by other entities are assigned corporate sector classification codes.

For more details on these classifications, please see the FTSE Fixed Income Index Guide.

Section 7

Composition and design criteria

7. Composition and design criteria

7.1 Return computation

7.1.1 Total returns are computed on the assumption that each security is purchased at the beginning of the period and sold at the end of the period. An issue's total rate of return is the percentage change in its total value over the measurement period (see Figure 3). The components of total return are price change, principal payments, coupon payments and accrued interest. The total returns use each individual security's beginning-of-period market value.

Beginning-of-period value	-	$(\text{Beginning price} + \text{Beginning accrued}) \times \text{Beginning par amount outstanding}$
End-of-period value	-	$[(\text{Ending price} + \text{Ending accrued}) \times (\text{Beginning par amount outstanding} - \text{Principal payments})] + \text{Coupon payments} + \text{Principal payments}$
Total rate of return (%)	-	$[(\text{End-of-period value} / \text{Beginning-of-period value}) - 1] \times 100$

A note on precision: Returns are computed to at least six decimal places but reported to a maximum of four. In addition, owing to rounding errors inherent in computer floating-point arithmetic, the last digit in any reported value may sometimes be off by one from its true value.

7.2 Data availability and accessibility

7.2.1 Index information, including index profiles, analytics and returns, and historical data, for the FTSE IdealRatings Broad US Dollar Sukuk Index Series is available on www.lseg.com/en/ftse-russell/. FTSE Russell also makes data for its indices available through a number of data and analytic vendors.
