Sustainability at LSEG

We believe long-term growth and sustainability can go hand-in-hand

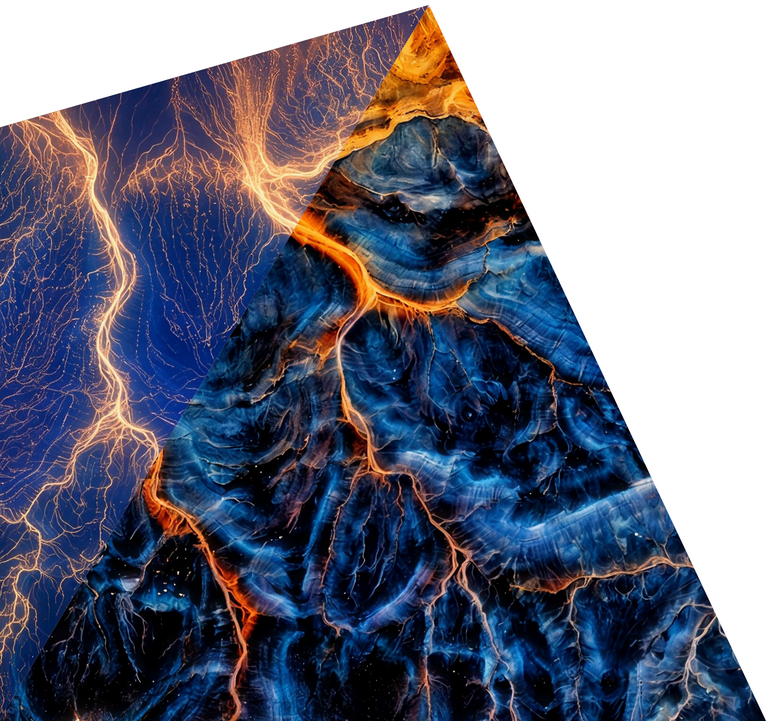

As a leading market data and infrastructure provider at the centre of global financial ecosystem, we understand how sustainability can impact value creation. We use this perspective to help customers make informed decisions, manage risk and seize opportunities as they pursue their commercial objectives.

Our unique position – connecting trusted data, sustainable indices and capital raising solutions – enables our customers to navigate risk, capture investment opportunities and build resilient portfolios and businesses for the long-term.

We also understand that long-term sustainable economic growth needs an effective policy environment. That's why we engage proactively, with regulators and market participants, drawing on our deep expertise to shape pragmatic standards and frameworks that serve evolving market and client needs.

Enabling sustainable finance

With 25 years’ experience connecting data and insights, indices and capital raising solutions, we enable our customers to navigate risk, capture investment opportunities and build resilient portfolios and businesses for the long-term.

Sustainable Data & Analytics

We bring together deep expertise in sustainable finance with market-leading data and analytics, providing comprehensive, cross-asset coverage across corporates, sovereigns and commodities. Our products spanning Sustainable Data, Climate, Sovereign, Green Economy and Regulatory Solutions enable customers to access trusted sustainability data and insights when, where and how they need them.

Sustainable Investment Indices

As a global leader in sustainable Investment indices, FTSE Russell’s cross-asset class sustainable index solutions are designed to support a broad range of investment needs, including portfolio construction, fund development, benchmarking and stewardship.

Sustainable Capital Raising

With over 300 years of capital markets heritage, the London Stock Exchange is the only exchange offering large international corporates, SMEs, sovereign entities, and financial institutions both equity and debt capital options for sustainable finance. We provide unparalleled access to deep pools of sustainable investment across our markets.

Environmental & Third Party Risk Screening

Our world leading screening solutions help customers screen and monitor companies globally to identify environmental and sustainability related risks across their value chain, including environmental crime and associated third party exposure.
